

By: Yossi Godard
Illustrations: Carmit Giladi-Pollard
הוֹצָאָה: הקיבוץ המאוחד
Age Group: First Grade

קְרִיאָה

Introducing Palindromes

A palindrome is a word, sentence, or number that can be read the same way from left to right or right to left. There are many palindromes in this book that are written in light blue. You can read them together from both ends, and perhaps find other palindromes that do not appear in this book.

שִׂיחָה

A Reversed Family

You can discuss the differences between members of your own family. In what way are we “reversed” or different from one another? How do these differences make us feel? Do they contribute to your family? Or make things harder? What do we stand to gain when someone’s view of things is the exact opposite of ours?

שְׁמַע

QR Code

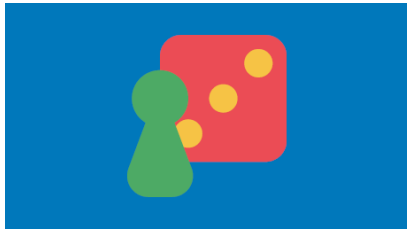

Scan the code to listen to more Sifriyat Pijama books being read on the “Yarden and Didi in Pajamas” podcast

מִשְׂחָק

A Reversed Day

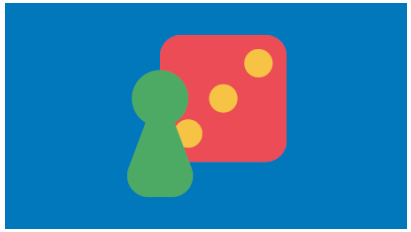

You can do the opposite of what you normally do – draw with the hand you use least, walk a different way than you usually do, or change the order of things you do in the afternoon to see what you can learn from this experience.

מִשְׂחָק

Reading for Fun

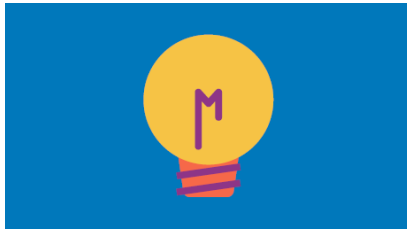

You can invite your children to participate in reading in various ways: Take turns reading – one line each; select a recurring keyword in the book, and look for it on every page; or let them choose their favorite page or sentence to read aloud.

הַשְׁרָאָה

Pinterest

Songs, arts & crafts and other surprises are waiting for you on the Sifriyat Pijama Pinterest page.

www.pjisrael.org More activities on the Pajama Library website