קריאה

You are welcome to leaf through the book

You are welcome to leaf through the book, and look at Lena Guberman's unique illustrations closely. Make sure you read the words and signs in the illustrations too! Has anything about the illustrations made you laugh? They are all made of colorful fabrics, thread, and wool. Perhaps you would also like to look for a piece of cloth or an old sock, cut it up, glue or sew it together, to make your own special artwork.

שיחה

You may want to discuss the Haruvis' demand for quiet, and their neighbors' responses with your child

You may want to discuss the Haruvis' demand for quiet, and their neighbors' responses with your child. Have you ever been asked to change your habits in order to be more considerate of others, such as family members or neighbors? Did that request seem reasonable or over the top? Having read the story together, you may be reminded of your own neighbors. Who have you not seen in a while, and would like to invite over to your house?

משחק

Perhaps you would like to take a walk around the neighborhood

Perhaps you would like to take a walk around the neighborhood. What does it look like? Who are your neighbors, and do you know them all? Do you spend time together, or help each other out? You may want to draw or make a model of your neighborhood together, and add those who live in each apartment or house.

לצאת החוצה

Would you like to play "silence"?

Would you like to play "silence"? You're welcome to whisper to one another, play in silence, walk on tiptoes, eat quietly, and even try to laugh without making a sound. Would you have passed the Haruvis' "quiet neighbor test"?

השקצה

You may enjoy discussing the following with your family or sharing it with your neighbors:

You may enjoy discussing the following with your family or sharing it with your neighbors: Does anything require improvement or repair in your shared space? You could initiate some neighborhood activities, such as decorating the shared stairwell, planting a community garden, or helping one another in your community. Put together an action plan, and get started.

בילוי

Laughter is an easy and fun way of coping, it makes you happy, and can even be contagious

Laughter is an easy and fun way of coping, it makes you happy, and can even be contagious. Perhaps you would like to try laughing while making every possible sound: Hoo hoo hoo, Ho ho ho, Ha ha ha, He he he, Hee hee hee. Start laughing and change sounds each time. Did your laughter “roll and tickle”? Did it lift your mood?
