Tip for Family Reading
Children enjoy feeling all grown up. While reading a book, let your children play a part, and enhance their sense of capability: You can ask them to select a book off the shelf, hold it, turn the pages, or even tell you or one of the stories in their own words.

I Can't
Avivi tells her mother that she cannot tidy up her room because she is too small. After reading this book, you can discuss and think together – is it easy or hard to tidy up your room? What can help you tidy it up? What are you able to do now that you were not able to do in the past because you were “too small” to do it?

Tidying up before the time is up!

You can have fun and try to break a “family record” in tidying up a room: Place various toys and items in the main room of the house, set a timer, or decide when the time will be up. Ready? Set? Go and work as a team to put all the items back where they belong as fast as you can! How long did it take? Did you finish before the time was up?

Puppet Theater

Avivi asks her toys to tidy up the room, but they say they can't – the teddy bear is too tired, and the frog is too lost... How about your toys? What are they unable to do and why? What would you like to ask them to do? You can put on a show with puppets and toys, making up various day-to-day situations or tasks for them to do together.
